

C-NOTES: THE COOLEST WAY TO CUSTOMIZE YOUR LIFE!

Imagine customizing your life with a click of a mouse! Now residents of Colorado can do precisely that and have information on Denver events and Colorado events delivered straight to their inbox.

Denver, CO- Residents of Colorado are in for a treat. CORE has launched its latest offering; C-Notes, an online tool to keep subscribers abreast with the latest Denver and Colorado events. Subscription is free and selection easy, allowing anyone with a computer access to this unique tool.

Bruce Hunter, CEO and Co-owner of the Group, CORE Media LLC, which recently launched C-Notes, says, “Colorado in general and Denver in particular attracts people from all over the country thanks to its rich heritage of cultural events and booming small business economy. The city is replete with cultural, business and entertainment offerings. And it’s hard to keep up when there’s so much to select from. C-Notes is our latest service to residents of Colorado. Visitors to the site are encouraged to sign in and customize their selection. You can narrow your preferences down to the neighborhood of choice and personalize it to suit your requirements. It’s that simple!”

C-Notes is the latest brainchild CORE Media LLC. They are known for their innovative and user friendly services and C-Notes is no exception. Realizing that finding suitable events can be time and energy consuming, they developed a program to handle this instead. Subscribers have the opportunity to get the latest Denver and Colorado events, right from concerts and health and wellness to dining, movies, the theater, kids festivals and even outdoor recreational events, delivered daily, weekly or monthly. A unique aspect to this site is that it can be customized. Visitors can make and save their selections in any of the categories based on their preferences, ensuring they don't receive additional 'junk' mail to their inbox.

The site is user friendly and easy to navigate.

Adds Richie Hunter, "As a mother and a full time business professional, I found it hard to make the time to search for events that catered to our varied interests. A simple occasion like dining out could demand quite a complicated search. C-Notes was created out of a need to simplify tasks in our busy lives and allow us to enjoy all that Colorado has to offer, without the stress of spending hours searching for it."
